LUTHERAN CHURCH

SERVICES ALL NEXT WEEK TO CULMINATE IN DEDICATION

Set in one of the most desirable spots to be found in beautiful Glendale is a little gem of a church, architecturally beautiful and unique. Built of white plaster, with green trimmings and with art glass windows that combine artistically with the whole in color and design, the result is very pleasing and in spite of the departure from the usual in church architecture the ecclesiastical effect is not lacking. This little church was built by the Lutheran congregation in this city and has been occupied since Easter. Beginning to-morrow, services will be held every night for a week, leading up to the feast of dedication on Sunday, July 22.

Some months ago the Lutheran congregation purchased the lot at Fifth and Maryland avenues, at the same time disposing of property in a less desirable location. The lot, which is 52x120 feet, cost $2800. The house which was on the lot has been remodeled and improved for a parsonage and harmonizes perfectly in architecture and finish with the church. The entire property is now worth $7500 the church having been built at a cost of $2700. The church was originally designed by the pastor, Rev. R. Warren Mottern, and his ideas were worked out by Architect Wm. A. Anderson.

There are three large class rooms in the rear, opening into the main auditorium, with a pleasant and well-lighted study for the pastor just inside the main entrance. On the south is a primary room, and leading from this a nicely arranged kitchen. The interior of the church is very prettily finished in a grained wood, and the indirect system of lighting is used. In the pulpit the light is thrown upon a large crayon copy of one of Plockhurst's paintings made by the pastor especially for that place.

Although the congregation is small, the work of the church is in a healthy condition, having the usual organizations, including organized Sunday School classes.

A lawn and an attractive arrangement of flowers and shrubs surrounds the church. A drinking fountain in front of the entrance invites all who thirst, while the ever-open door is an invitation for any who wish to partake of the water of life.

HEWITT GOES EAST

W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale Laundry, accompanied by his wife, will leave next Monday for the East. Mr. Hewitt will attend to business in New York and Mrs. Hewitt will visit relatives in Indiana. Mr. Hewitt is at the head of one of the most enterprising institutions in the San Fernando Valley, and wherever he goes he always speaks a good word for Glendale and this section of the San Fernando Valley.

MOTOR TO OCEANSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. James Luskenbach of 1028 Fairview avenue will accompany Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Eley, 645 North Louise street in a motor trip to Oceanside where they will spend the week-end. returning Sunday evening.

Mrs. Eley was also hostess to a very pleasant beach party which spent Thursday at Santa Monica. The guests were, Mrs. Henry Braun of 900 Glendale avenue and Mrs. Lingo and Mrs. Allison Eley of Hollywood.

WORK FOR CHILDREN

Mr. D. A. Johnson, representing the Children's Home Society of California was in the city the past week in the interest of this most worthy cause. The work of this society is well known here in Glendale where nine dependent children have been placed in good homes.

In 1916 alone, 304 dependent children were placed in good homes for adoption.

Mrs. Rebecca L. Lacy, whose address is 135 South Kenwood street has been appointed chairman of the local work. Mrs. Lacy will appoint members to serve on this committee of which announcement will be made later.

CHAFFEE FUNERAL

Funeral services for Samuel Whipple Chaffee were held at the chapel of Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. Friday, July 13, at 2 p. m.

The body was shipped to San Diego for interment Saturday morning.

WILMOT PARCHER

WELL DESERVED TRIBUTE TO ONE OF GLENDALE'S NOBLEMEN

Word has come to us that Mr. Wilmot Parcher has removed with his family to his new home in Tujunga, formerly Little Lands. We understand that the change has been made because of the beneficial results of the climate to Mr. Parcher's health while sojourning there, he having spent the majority of his time since last November in the little foothill village—a village that is becoming deservedly famous for its cultured society, its unique location and its salubrious climate.

The writer cannot let the occasion of this event pass by unnoticed, for it is an event that all of the people of Glendale, and particularly the older residents, will regret. No name is better or more favorably known in Glendale than that of Wilmot Parcher. Coming to Glendale about eighteen years ago, Mr. Parcher purchased ten acres of land on Glendale avenue (the property being a part of the old Chase homestead), and ever since that time has lived there. He became identified with all movements in the community for its upbuilding and general good before the organization of the city of Glendale. He was for five or six years the president and general manager of the Tropico Berry Growers Association, one of the largest growers of berries in the world. When the City of Glendale was incorporated in 1906, Mr. Parcher was elected a trustee of the city and was by the board of trustees chosen as chairman of the board, thereby becoming what is properly termed the first Mayor of Glendale. He was re-elected in 1908 for a four-year term, but on account of the press of private business matters, resigned before his term expired, giving to the city three and one-half years of unselfish service and without any compensation. It is rather interesting to note that Mr. Parcher spent of his own funds in addition to the giving freely of his time during his encumbency of the office of Mayor of Glendale, the amount of $72.50, said expendtiures being made as incidental to the work of the city and for which no reimbursement could be had. At the time Mr. Parcher served the City of Glendale, no salary was paid to the trustees; much of the street work was done; meetings necessarily were freuqent and of long duration and it was due to the wisdom of Mr. Parcher and his associates that Glendale was given the impetus that has, in a few short years placed Glendale in the forefront as one of the most progressive and beautiful cities in California.

After his retirement to private life, Mr. Parcher pursued the even tenor of his ways though always ready to respond to the call of civil duty. He was a member of the original committee that looked into the question of acquiring a municipal water plant for Glendale. He was also one of the workers for its acquisition, and when the question of acquiring a municipal lighting plant was up for discussion, he was one of those who advocated the acquiring of it and had the foresight to work and vote for the same, realizing the gain that would be made for the people of the city in so doing. Thus we find Mr. Parcher ever has been in the forefront for the good of the people of the city. And as we look over the period covered by Mr. Parcher's residence in Glendale, we find him always allied with the people of progress; a leader in all that spells for the real good of the community and of his home city; kindly, genial, and well-informed, having in mind the good of the masses he has so conducted himself both in public and private life that the people of his city learned to love and trust him as few men are loved and trusted by a community.

Now Mr. Parcher has left us to find and make other friends. His absence is a distinct loss to our city. We feel sure, however, that in his new home in the beautiful little hamlet with its magnificent views, its pleasant surroundings, and its friendly people, he will again do his duty as a citizen, neighbor and friend; and as the evening of his life draws on, we of Glendale will hear with pride in our hearts, of the works of our friend and neighbor, Wilmot Parcher. May the years of his life be many in the place he has chosen to spend them, and may the people of Tujunga learn to know and love him as do the people of the fair City of Glendale.

FRANK L. MUHLEMAN.

THE WASH BRIDGE

SUPERVISORS WILL CONSIDER APPROPRIATION AT MONDAY'S MEETING

When trouble comes to an individual or a community, persons affected by the trouble begin at once to inquire how the unfortunate condition could have been avoided.

The county bridge and the Pacific Electric bridge which span the wash on Brand boulevard are so constructed that they will serve as a dam at the time of a big flood, and the result will be that debris will collect against the posts supporting the bridge and the flow of the water will be hindered, causing it to overflow the banks of the channel on both the Glendale and Casa Verdugo sides.

The faulty construction of these bridges will bring thousands on thousands of dollars of damage to the adjacent territory in case of a prolonged rain storm.

This destruction to property is just as likely to come next winter as any time. If it does not come it is because there is not a great rain storm.

Three years ago such a storm came and property was damaged, and the Glendale community got a "black eye" from which it has not yet recovered. The wash channel would take care of the water if the channel had been left in its natural condition, but when men came along and constructed a bridge in the form of a dam across the channel, nature's laws were interfered with and the home owners in the proximity of the wash must suffer the consequences.

When the County Supervisors and the Pacific Electric Company constructed the bridges as they now are, they performed an act which greatly jeopardized the safety of the property in Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo, and the members of the present Board of Supervisors and the officials of the Pacific Electric Company certainly have the good judgment to replace these old bridges with new ones before the next rainy season visits us again.

The question of getting an appropriation for this purpose into the next year's budget comes up before the board for consideration next Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock. Property owners and residents of the Glendale territory who are interested are invited to be present at this meeting.

PATRIOTIC PARTY

On Thursday evening this week occurred one of the prettiest patriotic parties given in Glendale, at the cosy little home of Mrs. Ruth Boss, 1445 West Seventh street, in honor of her grandson, Floyd Boss, who is a member of the Coast Artillery Co. 21. The party was a complete surprise to the young man, carefully and secretly planned by Mrs. Boss, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Smith and daughter Stella, also Miss Clara Hare and Mrs. H. E. Johnson. The house was beautifully and artistically decorated with the national colors and dear little American flags in every nook and corner. When the hour came for Mr. Boss to return from an auto trip which had been planned for him, the guests were rushed into the dining room, which was in darkness, and each young lady present was given a streamer of the national colors and, as Mr. Boss stepped into the room, the lights were flashed on and he found himself wrapped with the streamers of the red, white and blue, which made the most effective picture with one of our young soldiers complete in his uniform. At the same time the Star-Spangled Banner was played. The evening was spent in playing various games and at a late hour delicious refreshments of cake and ice cream, carrying out the red, white and blue idea were served. Mr. Boss was presented with some beautiful and useful gifts which will remind him of his many friends while away serving his country.

The guests, with the addition of those who assisted the hostess, Mrs. Boss, were the Misses Jennie Morgan, Elizabeth Smith, Louise Moore, Florence Brotherton, Irene Abbott, Maude Schonfeldt, Viola Schonfeldt, Ella Saltstrom; Messrs. Harry Glazier, Arthur Budway, Lawrence Brotherton, Sam Brotherton, Leonard Carroll, Carl Engle, Senton La Lone, Owen Dibbern.

DEATH OF JOHN HAMMOND

John J. Hammond of San Gabriel died Saturday morning, July 14, 1917. The remains were shipped to San Francisco for interment by the Scovern-Letton-Frey Co.

FLAG RAISING

MR. AND MRS. WHITE TO HONOR DR. LANE AT PATRIOTIC CEREMONY

A most interesting ceremony will take place on the spacious lawn at the home of Mr. John Robert White, 101 Orange street, this afternoon before sunset. In the presence of the members of a large dinner party which will be given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White in honor of Dr. Richmond C. Lane, who has recently been commissioned as Lieutenant Junior and will go as Assistant Surgeon in the U. S. navy as soon as ordered.

A large flag will be raised on a pole placed on the lawn of this most patriotic family. The guests will join in singing the national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner" as Old Glory is flung to the breeze. It will be a most impressive scene and one which will no doubt make a lasting impression on the minds of the children who will also be guests at the flag raising and at the dinner which follows. A six o'clock dinner will be served al fresco at a long table seating about fifty guests. The patriotic motif is used exclusively and flags are displayed everywhere.

The guests who will assemble to do honor to Dr. Lane and enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. White are:

Dr. Richmond C. Lane, the honored guest, and Mrs. Lane.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Howe.
Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Clark.

DEATH OF MRS. G. A. SMART

The many friends of Mrs. George A. Smart, of 936 Chestnut street, are grieving over the sudden death of this estimable woman, which occurred at the Burbank hospital Friday afternoon, July 14, at 5:40. Mrs. Smart left her home Monday for the hospital, where she underwent an operation Tuesday morning. This was apparently successful and her passing away on Friday was a severe shock to her family and friends. Mrs. Smart leaves to mourn a loving and devoted wife and mother, her husband and two children, Louise and George, aged thirteen and six. Several brothers and sisters who live in Detroit, Michigan, also survive her.

Mrs. Smart was 44 years of age last August. She had lived in Glendale the past twelve years and leaves many devoted friends here as well as in her former home in the east. She was identified with the Christian and Missionary Alliance and was devoted to her church and her faith. Sincere sympathy is extended the bereaved family in their loss.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, until relatives in the east are heard from. The services will probably be held some time Monday at the tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT TO SHOOT SEVEN HILLS CLUB

W. E. Palmer, secretary of the Seven Hills Rifle and Revolver Club, states that arrangements are being made for a five man team revolver shooting match of the five best shooters in the Los Angeles Police Department against a like number of the Seven Hills Club. Sergeant W. M. Cayhill, of the East Side Police Station, has arranged the conditions of this shoot, which should prove very interesting, as it is expected some good shots will participate in this match on each side. The dates and conditions of the shoot will be advertised soon, also a full list of the names of the shooters who will shoot in this match.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1917

HE IS A VALUABLE CITIZEN

This one thing you will find is true: that the Glendale merchant who advertises regularly in the local daily paper is a man who stands up firmly for Glendale institutions, advocates trading at home, and practices just what he advocates. If you have a dollar to spend, give it every time to the merchant who advertises in the local daily paper. He is awake to the fact that the local daily newspaper is deserving of support, and that the residents of a community will feel kindly toward him because he is one of a group of business men who make it possible for a local daily paper to be published.

He also has learned that through the columns of the local daily he can get the best and most dignified publicity for a given amount of money. Yes, the enthusiastic supporter of a live daily newspaper in a community is a genuine booster for all local institutions,—he becomes acquainted with local conditions, he loves the town in which he lives and speaks a good word for all of her institutions.

CANNING CLUBS ORGANIZATION

The canning club has two functions: to give instruction to beginners and to instruct those who will do their canning at home. Wherever possible the home canners should visit the club and avail themselves of the instruction that is to be gained there.

Many families will do a comparatively small amount of canning and drying and it will be well for such families to organize a canning club. In this way they will be able to provide the work in much better fashion. The national Emergency Food Garden Commission will send to any one who asks for it data on canning and suggestions as to where to buy the apparatus.

The other alternative would be a community cannery. In organizing on this basis there should be a committee of, say, three or five members, depending upon the number of people involved.

The first thing to ascertain is, how many people will be interested how much each hopes to put up, what each will furnish and what vegetables it is planned to can.

The next thing to do is to find a place for headquarters, and having the equipment sent there. There is always some building, such as the basement of a church, high school building or other public meeting place, that is equipped with water and gas.

The committee should then call a meeting and appoint its working force. This working force should may out the financial outlay and apportion and arrange for the days of meeting.

In many cases it will be found that many people will want to bring produce and have nothing to do with the canning. This work should, therefore, be arranged on a pro rate basis, the canning committee retaining a certain percentage of the canning produce in payment for canning it. This can be turned over to some charitable institution or divided among the club members.

In organizing there should be a chairman of publicity, who will keep the newspapers informed as to the activities of the organization and thereby keep up the daily interest and provide an incentive for other people who will see what the organization is doing.

GENERAL BELL'S ADDRESS

The difference in the philosophy of an autocratic and of a democratic nation was shown in a short address delivered by Gen. Bell to troops that were about to embark for France. He admonished that they would be representatives of the American people and should so comport themselves everywhere as to confer honor upon their country. He told them they should always be protectors of women and children, non-combatants and private property. He concluded his remarks with the following words:

"In a short time the most of you will be in Europe and probably by and by all of you. You must, every one of you, remember that each soldier will be the representative of this country while over there. Do not base your standard of obligation on what you may expect of others, but remember that you should conduct yourself in a manner fitting the representatives of this great and altruistic nation."

Compare that with the orders issued by an autocratic ruler to the troops that invaded Belgium. They were to make the country a wilderness, private property was everywhere seized, indemnities were laid upon them to pay the cost of the invasion of their own country, non-combatants have been made slaves and transported to another country, the young girls have been taken from their families and no report has been made of their fate. The old were left to die of starvation. Seven millions of them have been fed for nearly three years by the philanthropic people of the world. There is a vast difference between the policies of "this great and altruistic nation" and that of the autocracy of the Prussians. The war is being fought to make the democratic standard the policy of the whole world.—The Omaha World Herald.

The Glendale Evening News should be delivered at your home by the carrier not later than 4:30 p. m. every day except Sunday, and usually much earlier than that time. Subscribers who have not received their paper at 4:30 o'clock, should notify the office by phone: Glendale 132, Home 2401.

BAND AND FIESTA

By Walt. Le Noir Church

The Chamber of Commerce is only half a block from Broadway and Louise streets, where the Glendale Municipal Band will give its regular Saturday evening concert at 8 o'clock this evening. As advertised yesterday, there will be an informal meeting of all those interested in the Allies' Fiesta at 7 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce, 1010 Broadway. Very interesting items of news will be given. Many should attend. There is something every one can do. After that meeting all can attend the band concert and, if desired, take chairs from the Chamber of Commerce. It is hoped that the Glendale Municipal Band will take a prominent part in the Allies' Fiesta at La Ramada Park next Saturday, July 21.

ENERGIES RIGHTLY DIRECTED

Very frequently the editor of the Evening News receives a letter from an appreciative individual thanking him for generous publicity given to a worthy cause. He is indeed grateful for the kind words contained in these communications. If such persons who are truly anxious to aid the publisher in placing before the people a more successful daily paper would co-operate with other friends of the paper in adding new names to the subscription list, and in securing additional advertising for the paper, great good could be accomplished for the community. When you learn of a bargain through the paper do not hesitate to inform the advertiser that you got your information from his advertisement in the Evening News.

A daily paper of twice the size of to-day's issue would be a credit to Glendale and would better express the business magnitude and life of a city of 9000 inhabitants. A local daily paper of the increased size can be made possible only by the hearty co-operation of all residents and merchants of the community. Glendale has the population and the business houses to cause a healthy business condition, but lack of co-operation is what holds back local development.

APRICOTS GALORE

Professor A. B. Heacock, 507 West Ninth street, brought to the Chamber of Commerce a wonderful collection of apricots. Four bunches (one stem each) averaged 16 apricots. The one on exhibition in the Chamber of Commerce contained 21. It is a fine showing. As usual, Glendale leads.

Take a look also at the 8 fine oranges on one short stem, donated by Mrs. Thomas H. Addison, 316 Belmont street. The varied hues on the apricots and oranges make a lovely color scheme. Small wonder that the ancients paid special honor to such golden fruits, believing them particularly blessed by the Sun God.

NOTE: The new exhibit mentioned in yesterday's News was loaned by Miss H. A. Purinton, Broadway and Orange. The wonderful Egyptian shawl is owned by Mrs. Dr. Hornsey, 509 South Jackson street. She is chairman of the White Elephant booth, which will create a sensation at the Allies' Fiesta next Saturday, July 21. Don't miss it.

FOOD DEMONSTRATION

The Committee on Food Values, Canning and Preserving will give another demonstration in the council chamber of the City Hall on Tuesday, July 17, at 10 a. m. At this time Mr. Gates of Pasadena will demonstrate a home dryer that will dry fruits and vegetables and do sun-preserving. The fireless cooker and food cooler will be demonstrated also.

MRS. KARA S. ROOT,
Chairman Food Values, Canning and Preserving.

THE LAND IS FOR ALL

The Great Adventure Campaign now in progress with 15,000 names already on petitions to open up the land for use in 1920 by means of the single tax on land values is but a continuation of the effort which brought forth at last election 260,332 votes to place all taxes upon land values. This will restore to the community the land values created by the community which is now confiscated by private landlords. When this collectively earned fund, at present lost to us, is called back into the public treasuries, all state, county, municipal and district expenses will be paid from it. It will moreover, be fully sufficient to finance three other propositions now being shaped so as to go on the same ballot to be voted for November, 1918. They are:

1. State loans to settlers at ten years and two per cent.
2. State ownership of power sources and public service at cost.
3. Pensions to aged and widows.

MRS. LONA INGHAM ROBINSON.

Help the weak if you are strong,
Love the old if you are young;
Own a fault if you are wrong,
If you're angry hold your tongue.
In each duty lies a beauty
If your eyes you do not shut,
Just as surely and securely
As a kernel in a nut.

OFFICERS SHOWS MERCY

A story comes from the great war, "somewhere in France," told by a British soldier in a letter home.

He says that he was standing by the roadside when a motor car with two officers in it came up. At the same time, there arrived a number of stretcher-bearers with their loads, wounded men who had to be carried in some way or other to the nearest hospital, which was seven miles away. As the bearers stopped to rest for a minute or two they were accosted by one of the officers from the motor car. He asked them where they were taking the wounded men and what hospital would receive them; and they told him.

"Put them into my car," said he, "and the chauffeur will drive them there at once. They will go quicker and more easily, too."

But the other officer expostulated. Evidently this one was not intending to go any farther with his companion.

"But, sir," he said, "that will mean that you must walk back, and may I suggest, sir, that seven miles is not an easy stretch after you have been going about for hours!"

"Never mind," cheerily replied the other, "I will walk if by that means we can get these poor fellows attended to any the sooner."

As he insisted, the wounded men were placed in the easy-running car, which sped away to the hospital, and its owner set out to walk those seven miles back to his official headquarters.

This young officer was the Prince of Wales.

Rimer—"Have you read any of those versified advertisements I'm writing for 'Perkins's Panacea'?"

Grouch—"Yes, and they make me sick."

Rimer—"Good; that's the effect I want them to have. It helps the sale of the 'Panacea.'"—Philadelphia Press.

The new maid was entirely a make-shift, and the mistress bore with her patiently at first. But on the third day she placed a very unclean dinner plate on the table and patience broke down.

"Really, Mary, you might at least see that the plates are clean?"

"Well, mum," Mary rejoined. "I owns to them thumb marks, but that dried mustard was there when I came."—The United Presbyterian.

"I was out motoring the other day."

"So?"

"Yes; and I came to a river, but could find no means of getting my machine across."

"Well, what did you do?"

"O, I just sat down and thought it over!"

Woe to the country whose condition and institutions no longer produce great men to manage its affairs.—Metternich.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB "Y. M. C. A. W. W."

No, that has absolutely nothing to do with the "I. W. W." Those six initials stand for "Young Men's Christian Association War Work."

Next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, on the spacious grounds of Mrs. John Robert White, First and Orange, the Tuesday Afternoon club will give a lawn party, with a very interesting entertainment, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. W. W.

In the great war the Y. M. C. A. bears a unique and very important part. It is the "Ultimate Guard," if we may use what seems a fitting name for this particular occasion. In a way the Y. M. C. A. is the guard behind the man behind the gun.

The object of a guard is to ward off danger. It is an ancient truism that "prevention is better than cure." For the young men in camp there is a sea of troubles, with physical and moral dangers galore. The card sharp, the "scarlet woman," and vice in every guise fringe an army camp, and "Satan like a roaring lion," "seeking whom he may devour," is always in evidence.

This danger was lately realized at Fort Laramie, Wyoming. The mothers of that "wild and woolly" region arose en masse and had a "spring cleaning" which astounded the oldest inhabitant. It was a necessity. Necessity makes its own law—or at least gives its own interpretation to existing laws.

At that entertainment next Tuesday evening, Misses Alberta and Lorena Davis will play. They are mellophone, fluegel horn and euphonium artists. They are also known far and wide as the "Los Angeles Girl Buglers." They will play the army bugle calls: first call, reveille, assembly, mess, tattoo, taps, and the most thrilling of all, the call to the colors, when danger threatens. These calls, except the last, will give a good idea of what our soldier boys will hear and heed every day.

It is hoped that the danger call may not be sounded too often, but that when it comes our boys may be well prepared to "rally 'round the flag" and do their whole duty as Americans.

Miss Withrow of Chautauqua fame will be there to delight the audience with her interpretative dancing and readings.

Aside from the good cause for which it is given, that entertainment will be well worth attending for its own merit.

Every one will be welcomed, and perhaps almost every person in Glendale will soon be personally interested in the splendid work the Y. M. C. A. is doing just back of the firing line and will continue to do through the whole war. It may be of inestimable service to some friend of yours or to some dear one of your friend.

"Prevention is better than cure." Why not help the Y. M. C. A. W. W. to prevent ills which nothing on earth can cure

This delightful entertainment offers good time and place to begin. Why not take advantage of such an opportunity? Don't miss it. First and Orange, Tuesday, 8 p. m., July 17th.

SINGLE TAX MEETING NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

The land is for all; if not, who are the chosen ones divinely appointed to own it? Mr. Edgcumb Pinchon of Los Angeles, a brilliant young journalist, will discuss this question next Tuesday evening at the Robinson home, 114 Maryland avenue, at 8 o'clock. Before the main address, Rev. N. J. Wright and J. W. Durham will speak briefly on this question of breaking up the cornering of the land supply as infinitely worse than monopolizing the food supply in time of war or any other time. Grace and Robert Tower will enliven the occasion by some musical numbers and an interesting time is anticipated. Every one is cordially invited to come.

TELL ME

one thing and I can answer the following questions about yourself: "Have you ability, prudence and forethought? Are you cautious, thrifty and ambitious? Are you unselfish, industrious, mindful of duty and home-loving? Are you accustomed to assume responsibility? Do you appreciate the need for being prepared to meet emergencies?"

Tell me how much life insurance you carry and I can answer the above for you.

Read this again and see if I'm not right. If I am, increase your insurance. If wrong, tell me where.

DOLLAR SOCIAL

A very unique and enjoyable entertainment was given at the West Glendale Methodist Church on Thursday evening, under the auspices of teh Ladies' Aid Society. The church was very prettily and tastefully decorated with our national colors in flags and flowers, with the Red Cross emblems. Local talent assisted materially in rendering an excellent program. Prof. Houndhammer, an expert violinist, led the orchestra, and the music was great. Mr. Frank Booth rendered a very pleasing vocal solo. Mr. Richard Berry, one of Glendale's rising young pianists, rendered a piano solo which was skillfully executed. Mr. Chas. Guthrie, the Glendale Scoutmaster, was present with a bunch of Boy Scouts, who gave an exhibition of flag signaling, sending and receiving messages, giving first aid treatment to injured persons, improvising stretchers and carrying away the wounded, and other work pertaining to the Boy Scouts. Mr. Guthrie is surely a success as Scoutmaster of Glendale's three divisions of Scouts.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase were present and represented the work of the Red Cross. Several young ladies appeared on the platform in uniforms of Red Cross nurses. Dr. Chase demonstrated the use of various forms of bandages and showed several garments used in the hospitals for patients.

Following this the orchestra gave a patriotic medley in excellent manner. The Ladies' Aid Society then gave the part which was the main feature of the evening's entertainment, their dollar offering with the way they earned it. Mrs. E. Hoskyn conducted this, reading an original poem arranged in alphabetical rhyme, so that when the ladies' names were read each came forward and dropped a dollar into a basket set for the purpose. Forty-six ladies' names were called and most all responded with a dollar. A basket offering was then taken for the Red Cross and about six dollars received. Great credit is due Mrs. Pixley, who had charge of the program; also Mrs. Hanning, who secured the services of many of the musical entertainers of the evening. We want especially to thank the orchestra for the excellent music. We thank all who contributed to the enjoyment of the evening in the name of the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Glendale Methodist Church.

FROM ACROSS THE SEAS

In all the letters received by Mr. W. G. Watson and family from relatives in England, as the following will show, there is expressed a great appreciation of the help America is rendering in the present war. A cousin writing to Miss Alice Watson emphasizes this in a letter of June 17th.

1 Harbro Hill Road,
Barnsley, Yorkshire, England.

My Dear Cousin Alice:

We know you wonder how we are getting along. Glad to say that sister and I are well. We have been busy cleaning and having some papering done, bedrooms and drawing-room. I do wish you could come over. If we hadn't those treacherous submarines.

We wonder if you are doing any Red Cross training work over seas. I wish I had been in London and could have seen some of your American lady nurses and doctors that were going to France. Just to have a look at them, you know. I think it is fine and brave of them. I know that Uncle would have come had he been young. Tell him I have signed for the National Y. M. C. A. service.

All our soldier friends are at the front now. We do miss them, but receive nice letters from them. We have arranged a moon chain link with them. Will you join us, Alice? We look about nine o'clock for the moon and think of friends across the sea. Especially when the moon is shining.

We are constantly talking about you. You see we are allies in this great world war and we are all glad of the help you are giving, in words, thoughts and deeds. We never thought this terrible war could last so long.

I read in all the papers of the United States doings and the valuable help they are giving us. We are sorry that great sacrifices will have to be made by your people and country. But I feel sure that it will bring this terrible war to an end sooner and, we trust, satisfactorily.

Uncle will be interested to hear that on Thursday, June 7th, we are having Gypsy Smith at Pitt street W. Chapel. He is coming for the Y. M. C. A. cause. Gypsy Smith has been out at the front, and also in the trenches, so he will have some things to tell us of the great war and the great sacrifies that are being made. I think it isn't very long since he was in America.

Everything is dear to buy and a great shortage. Makes people have to think a little more than they have done about the food problem. We are sorry for the very poor, especially the children.

Hoping all are well,
Your affectionate cousin,
EMMA WATSON.

AUTO WRECKING PLANT

Automobiles will not last forever, and yet often when an automobile is cast aside there are many parts in that machine which are almost as good as new. There is located at 806 West Broadway, Glendale, the Auto Wrecking and Junk Co., that makes a business of buying used automobiles, wrecking them and placing on sale the parts that have not been affected much by the use of the machine.

These gentlemen, who understand the auto-wrecking business, make a thorough examination of the parts of the machine they are wrecking, and they place on sale only such parts as will give good service. These parts, which are almost as good as new, can be bought for half price or less. Sometimes they will buy an old machine that had just been equipped with new tires, and these tires are a bargain at any price less than the actual price for new tires. The man who likes to make a study of the various makes of automobiles and their parts, will be interested in looking over the great assortment of parts to be found at the Glendale Auto Wrecking and Junk place, 806 West Broadway.

THIMBLE CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Carnation Thimble club were the guests of Mrs. Ida Smith at her home, 332½ North Louise, on Wednesday last. Appropriately to the mid-summer season, the guests were entertained under the vine-covered pergola and busy fingers of the fourteen members present were employed in piecing comforts, which later will be given to the Odd Fellows Orphan home at Gilroy.

The hostess, Mrs. Smith, had prepared light refreshments for the occasion, but to her surprise a large cake with the inscription "birthday greetings," beautifully decorated with pansies and ferns, was produced by the guests and presented to the hostess with many warm expressions of affection. The members of the club had learned of the special significance of the day and took this way to offer congratulations.

This will be told by Dr. Walker, who is the advance man for Mr. Sunday. He is a man with a most important and interesting message. He has been intimately associated in Mr. Sunday's great work. PAVED HIGHWAYS

SO. CALIFORNIA SURPASSES ALL OTHER SECTIONS FOR HAVING GOOD ROADS.

That the thirteen counties of Southern California have almost twice the mileage of paved and macadamized highways of the entire State is the official report issued yesterday by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

In accordance with a request from President Fred L. Baker, the club's touring information bureau has secured accurate data from practically every county in the State as to the number of miles of paved and macadamized highway to be found in California. This information was secured by wire from each county, and is to be used in the club's campaign to attract eastern motorists to Southern California over the Lincoln Highway, the National Old Trails Road and other transcontinental routes.

Devoid of all propaganda, the resultant figures show that this part of the State has established itself permanently as a touring field without peer in America, both from the actual miles of highly improved road and from the scenic attractions offered, the latter fundamentally including the coast and mountain tours.

In the thirteen southern counties, which include Inyo, Imperial, Kern, Los Angeles, Mono, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Luis Obispo, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Tulare and Ventura, there are 2368 miles of paved highways.

In the entire State of California, excepting these southern counties and Alpine, Amadore, Del Norte, Lake, Lassen, Modoc, Plumas, San Francisco, Sierra and Trinity counties, from which no report was made, there are 1878 miles of paved highway, illustrating the great work done by Southern California in the matter of road building.

Among those counties which have taken their place in the sun as highway constructionists are Alameda county, with 123 miles of paved road; Kern, with 179 miles; Los Angeles, with 1099 miles; Monterey, with 167 miles; Orange, with 250 miles; Riverside, with 129 miles; San Bernardino, with 190 miles; San Joaquin, with 414 miles; San Diego, with 153 miles. Other counties, of which there are thirty-nine, have each built on an average of forty-five miles of paved road.

Los Angeles county stands out as the undisputed leader and pioneer in highway construction. With its 1099 miles of paved road, each mile of which is practically a tiny scenic tour in itself, and the entire mileage of which, if unravelled and straightened out, would stretch from the Mexican border to San Francisco and back again to Los Angeles.

Transcontinental motorists are rapidly discovering that though they come westward, over the Lincoln Highway or any other route from that one south, they connect directly with the network of highways provided by the thirteen southern counties. Taking the Lincoln Highway, they may turn southward over the Midland Trail, already sign posted by the Automobile Club of Southern California, and reach Los Angeles direct through the scenic Owens River Valley.

For the distribution and guidance of all local and visiting automobilists the club has erected, and are now standing, 11,500 road signs, each of enamelled metal and each carrying full directions for comprehensive touring. In addition to the thousands of road signs, the club further aids motorists with touring information bureaus maintained at all important points throughout the southern part of the State, where accurate road data is given free of charge to all who apply.

It is further pointed out in President Baker's report that the paved highways of the southern counties each connect with thousands of miles of highly improved dirt highways which lead to the scenic mountain resorts, and that hundreds of miles of the paved routes serve as the western terminals to the transcontinental roads after they enter the State.

SAND PAINTING.

Native customs of India are very interesting, no matter what they may be or how we may look at them; one of the most interesting is that of sand painting, or making sand pictures, by the women.

Sand painting is done in front of the temples and houses on festal days, and has some religious significance. The sand is first prepared by the natives, and is red, black, blue, purple, orange and white. First there come certain preliminary and preparatory ceremonies on the part of the women about to engage in the work of picture making. Then each woman takes some sand in her hand and, as she chants, she allows it to trickle out slowly so as to form crosses, semicircles, crescents, figures of birds, animals and even grotesque human forms. It all depends upon the festal day that is being observed how many of each kind are made; they are supposed to attract the good spirits and invoke their blessings upon the people. The colors are well balanced, and there is a natural "scheme" to this sand painting that is truly marvelous. Sometimes when a member of a royal household is ill, the sand painting is done in order to bring down the spirits to cure the affected one. To step on one of these sand paintings is a sign of bad luck, and everybody waits for the wind or storm to blot out all definite traces before venturing on "painted ground."—Selected.
